GETTING STARTED IN THE LIBRARY (AND ON YOUR TOPIC)

First, make sure that you have visited the library’s website at www.library.ehc.edu. Many of the resources listed in this handout will be accessed or located there. Second, unless you are already an expert on your topic, some background information or a general overview might be useful. The titles listed below, all located in the reference section of Kelly Library, have good articles on science related topics. They are examples of specialized encyclopedias—they focus on a particular subject, as compared to general encyclopedias, such as Americana or World Book.

Encyclopedia of Bioethics REF/QH/332/.E52
Encyclopedia of Physical Science REF/Q/121/.R77
Gale Encyclopedia of Science REF/Q/121/.G35
Encyclopedia of Science and Technology Communication REF/Q/225.2/.U6/E53
New Dictionary of Scientific Biography REF/ Q/141/.N45
New Encyclopedia of Southern Culture: Environment REF/F/209/.N47/v.8
Encyclopedia of the Scientific Revolution: From Copernicus to Newton REF/ Q/125/.E53
Salem Health: Genetics REF/RB/155.5/.G4616/2010/vols. 1-3
Scientific American Science Desk Reference REF/Q/173/.S427

In addition to many print resources in the reference section, there are several databases that contain reference-type material. A few examples are:

Credo Reference
Gale Virtual Reference Library
Biography in Context

You can find links to these databases on Kelly Library’s A-Z Databases list.

FINDING INFORMATION IN THE (ALMOST) WHOLE LIBRARY COLLECTION

An easy way to search most of the library’s resources that are actually in the building, or full-text in its databases, is through E&H OneSearch. Take a look at the following example--- a search on “global warming” AND “vegetation”.

---
Notice the checkbox limiting the search results of about 77,549 items to “Available in Library Collection.” This search includes everything on the A – Z List except the databases on the right side of the screen shot. This is an easy way to make a first pass in your research, and find a substantial number of full-text items.

When the box is unchecked, the list of results expands to over 99,000 items.

CAN I LOOK AT INDIVIDUAL DATABASES?

You may prefer to look at some of these databases individually. Let’s look at the catalog and a few databases.

FINDING MATERIAL WITH THE CATALOG

After you have found some general information, you might want longer, more detailed information. One great place to look is in the online catalog (innopac.hal.org). Emory & Henry College belongs to a group, or a consortium, of four libraries called Holston Associated Libraries, and they share a common catalog. Sometimes you will hear library staff members refer to the catalog as HAL. All types of items are in our catalog; besides books, there are DVDs, CDs, maps, electronic books and other electronic resources. You can search for material in several different ways: by subject, title, author and keyword.

The screenshot below is from a subject search for natural selection.

Here is the full record for one of those results. It gives you information about the book, its location and availability status.
These sample searches are very basic; there are many ways you can limit or tailor your search. We won’t go deeply into that now, but the library staff wants you to be aware of the catalog and that it has the holdings in all kinds of formats of its member libraries. The most important thing to remember is to ask for help!

WHAT DO THESE STRANGE LETTERS AND NUMBERS MEAN?

After you have found books and other material in the catalog, how do you find these things in the library? The call numbers may not look like what you are used to in your school learning resource center or local public library. That’s because Kelly Library uses the Library of Congress classification system, and your school or public library probably used the Dewey Decimal system. Both classification schemes do the same thing: group library materials together by subject. To help make things clearer, take a look at this interactive tutorial (http://uri.libguides.com/c.php?g=42388&p=268465) from the University of Rhode Island to help you decipher Library of Congress call numbers. Also, if you are having a tough time finding items on the shelves, do not hesitate to ask any circulation staff member or reference librarian for help.

In general, most of the circulating items on are on the top floor of the library. The reference collection, periodicals and newspapers are on the main floor. The ground floor has the IT Help Desk, an open computer lab (Kelly Lab), the McGowan Lab, and a government documents collection.

FINDING MATERIAL BY USING DATABASES

Besides books, you will want articles. Articles generally fall into two groups: popular magazines and scholarly periodicals. You have online access to both kinds of articles through the many databases this library subscribes to. Kelly Library subscribes to many online full-text and partially full-text databases that would be helpful in locating material for your research assignments in this class. You may access them from the library web page (www.library.ehc.edu) by clicking on the A-Z Databases link.

Academic Search Complete
Academic Search Complete is a periodical database that includes both popular and scholarly journals. It has full text articles as well as indexing and abstracting for many more journals. Another similar database to try is General Onefile.

JSTOR
JSTOR is an online journal collection that has the backfile of hundreds of journals, usually with a moving wall of three to five years.

BioOne
This collection includes a broad selection of the full-texts, peer-reviewed journals and bulletins published by AIBS (American Institutes of Biological Sciences) member societies and other closely related organizations

Environment Complete
Environment complete covers applicable areas of agriculture, ecosystem ecology, energy, renewable energy sources, natural resources, pollution & waste management, environmental technology, environmental law, public policy, social impacts, urban planning, and more.
Scifinder Scholar
This is a bibliographic and research database from Chemical Abstracts Services (CAS). A one-time online registration is required.

E&H OneSearch
Have you tried using E&H OneSearch? It’s our new discovery search product that allows you to search most of the library’s databases (including the catalog) simultaneously. You can access it from the main library page, or the A-Z Database list.

Kelly Library also subscribes to about 400 print journals, magazines, and newspapers. Print periodicals are kept on the main floor of the library, with current issues in the periodicals alcove.

WHAT DOES “SCHOLARLY” VERSUS “POPULAR” MEAN?
Throughout your college career, you will hear professors and librarians mention popular magazines and scholarly journals. Or, your professors may tell you to rely on scholarly, not popular sources. What does that mean?
Generally, articles in popular magazines, such as Time, Sports Illustrated, Glamour, Psychology Today, etc. are geared toward a large audience. Scholarly journals, such as the American Historical Review, American Journal of Psychology, Mind, International Journal of Ethics, etc. are aimed at scholars and students in specialized fields.
People is a magazine about celebrities and popular culture; the Journal of Popular Culture studies and analyzes it. There is a helpful chart (http://lib.skidmore.edu/library/index.php/how-do-i-homepage/37-how-do-i-category/418-scholarly-vs-popular-articles) on the Skidmore College’s Library website that will help you distinguish the differences between the two types of publications.

WHAT DO YOU DO IF AN ARTICLE IS NOT FULL-TEXT IN A DATABASE?
If you’re looking, for example, in Academic Search Complete, and you find an article that is not full-text, what do you do? Go to our Journals by Title list! An article citation that may not be full-text in one database may very well be full-text in another one of the library’s dozens of databases. Just search for the title of the journal to retrieve a list of databases that offer it in full text, along with which years are available.

If you find books or articles that you do not have access to in Kelly Library, you may wish to use the interlibrary loan service. Please speak with a librarian for further details about this service.

DOCUMENTATION AND PLAGIARISM
Plagiarism is serious academic misconduct. The E&H Academic Code clearly states that it is a student’s responsibility to give credit to another person’s exact words or unique ideas. The Honor Code reinforces this concept with the statement that one of its elements is “A commitment to abstain from all forms of cheating and plagiarism.” Documenting sources correctly will help you avoid this mistake in your papers and presentations. In high school, you may have already had some experience with the Turabian style of documentation. Your professors will talk to you more in-depth about this issue. Three other common styles you may hear your professors mention are MLA (Modern Language Association), APA (American Psychological Association) and the Chicago Manual of Style. The library has guides for all of them. Also, on the library’s Research Tips page, there are links to several helpful sites.

YOUR BEST RESOURCE

Your best resource in the library is the people who work here! If you are having problems locating or using any of these resources, please ask a library staff member for assistance. We’re here to help you with your information needs. Kelly Library is open 90+ hours a week during the regular semester, and reference librarians are available 8am – 7pm Monday – Thursday and 8am-5pm Friday.

Librarians: Jane Caldwell, Jody Hanshew, Janet Kirby, and Ruth Castillo

Circulation Staff: Adam Alley, Cindy Goodson, Christine Mitten, and Melissa Phelps.

Another valuable resource available to you on this campus is the E&H Writing Center in McGlothlin-Street 233. The tutors there can work with you to improve your papers by giving you advice on grammar, organization and documentation matters; it is not an editing service. For information on operating hours and tutor schedules, call ext. 6723 or check the Writing Center webpage. Also, you may want to consult with Academic Support Services in the Powell Resource Center at ext. 6144.

One more resource that will help you with your research: Diana Hacker’s grammar and composition book A Writer’s Reference. It contains an excellent section on doing research—how to set realistic deadlines, form a topic and refine it, etc. as well as giving you some practical tips.
